Although we try to limit the personal information collected in connection with a request to exercise the right to know and/or the right to deletion, certain requests may require us to obtain additional personal information from you. In certain circumstances, we may decline a request to exercise the right to know and/or right to deletion, particularly where we are unable to verify your identity. In certain instances, we may be permitted by law to decline some or all of your requests.

Note that we will not be able to directly process the above requests under the CCPA because we do not exceed the minimum threshold requirements for the applicability of the term “business” under the CCPA, which refers to the entity that determines the purpose and means of information processing. This includes some situations where you provided the relevant information directly to us. However, in many cases we are instead a “service provider” under the CCPA and are processing personal information on behalf of our customer, who provided the information to us or on whose behalf we are collecting your personal information, and where such end customer acts as the “business” under the CCPA because our end customer exceeds the minimum threshold requirements for the applicability of the CCPA. In situations where we are acting as a service provider, we will refer your request to the applicable end customer instead.

We will handle any request to exercise your rights in accordance with applicable law. If you wish to exercise any of the rights described above please contact us in one of the following ways:

- (1) Email us at privacy@2Ring.com with the subject line “Privacy Rights Request” or “Consent Withdrawal”, as applicable;
- (2) Call us at: +1 (916) 426-3790 or +421 (2) 5822-4550; or
- (3) Send us mail at the applicable 2Ring address below marking it “Attention:” followed by “Privacy Rights Request” or “Consent Withdrawal”, as applicable.
